

THE BRITISH ATHLETES COMMISSION LIMITED

BAC Benefits Scheme: Accountancy

GRANITE MORGAN SMITH

Chartered Certified Accountants
and Registered Auditors

The British Athletes Commission (BAC) have teamed up with Granite Morgan Smith and Princercroft Willis, to offer athletes a full package of accountancy advice and services.

Whether or not you have set up a limited company, are self employed, or work for someone else; our partners can advise on best practice with your current tax situation. Couple this with fantastic discounts available for BAC members, and you get the complete package for a fraction of the cost.

How have the BAC helped?

The BAC has been working hard over the past few years to agree guidelines with HMRC which help athletes and their advisers to understand when they will become liable for tax, when they should complete a tax return, and what expenses they may claim back. The BAC was also responsible for implementing changes in the way your athlete personal award (APA) is calculated. The outcome is that the APA is no longer means tested against your other income, (reduced pound for pound) until your earnings reach a far higher level. Just two examples to illustrate a fraction of the work conducted by the BAC on your behalf, to ensure your interests are being looked after.
